Dear Sir,

As a Consul of the Republic of Poland in London, where hundreds of thousands of families found exile after surviving the Golgotha of the East, I feel strongly about the need to record these tragic pages from the history of Poland and to share this knowledge with future generations of Poles.

I found the project proposed by the Kresy-Siberia Foundation very interesting. The Virtual Museum is an initiative of profound significance as it will not only preserve the knowledge about these untold facts and spread it across the world, but will also be important for historical remembrance of future generations of Poles. The project is deemed to be successful due to its modern, interactive format, the involvement and contribution of a distinguished group of scholars, and the professionalism of the architects of this undertaking.

I would like to express my full endorsement of this important and necessary project. I wish its creators and contributors that their enthusiasm, determination and endurance result in launching of the Kresy-Siberia Virtual Museum as soon as possible.

Kind regards,
